PRÉSENTATION:

https://www.letemps.ch/economie/vers-une-dematerialisation-louverture-comptes-bancaires-suisse The leading Swiss newspaper Le Temps publishes a contribution (in French) by Antoine Amiguet and Philipp Fischer regarding digital onboarding in the financial sector (link). The Swiss financial regulatory framework allows, subject to certain requirements, the initiation of banking relationships without a physical meeting with the client and without the exchange of physical documents. The authors argue that these opportunities, which are very useful in the current circumstances, could become the new standard in the future.
